

Section 34. Formal Recognition of the Stakeholders

- d. General public - refers to persons whether or not consumers of electricity who will be affected by the operations of TransCo are considered TransCo's stakeholders. As a government corporation, TransCo owes its existence to the general public.

TransCo aims to communicate or relate with the general public accurately, effectively and sufficiently in the following manner:

- Maintain a strong line of communication which allows a quick response to public queries and requirements.
- Conduct an information dissemination on TransCo's mandate as well as other matters that relate to the electric power industry;